Age Level	Program	Description
Ages 14-17	Intro Voice 	Singing benefits our physical and mental health. Unlike instrumentalists, we carry our voice with us wherever we go. Learn how the voice works using vibrations, consonants, and warm-ups. No matter your experience, let's come together and sing. Singing is an active activity so making sure your body is healthy is an important part of it. Discover how to include dance and other exercise techniques with your singing to make sure your voice is strong and healthy. Learn about voice types and build your vocal repertoire. Practice exercises to assist different types of singing like belting, chest and head voice. Find your genre, unlock your style, and plan performances for your future. In singing we have music written by a composer and words by a lyricist or librettist. Become a composer and learn about song writing using "Vocal Mad Libs" to create your own words to your favorite songs.
Ages 14-17	Intro to Musicianship 	Our voice is our instrument! Learning to read music and repeating it back greatly improves muscle memory. Engage in "call and response" activities and the science of audiation. Train your ears to listen to a melody while staying on the correct pitch. "Do, a deer a female deer. Re, a drop of golden sun." Learn solfege, a system of unique symbols for each note of a scale with the addition of Curwen hand symbols to accompany. Utilizing solfege helps sight singing skills, also called prima vista , a skill that helps an individual practice reading a performing music they have never seen before. "And a one, and a two, and a one, two, three...!" Music comes from the heart quite literally; our heartbeat is like the beat of music. Practice internalizing a steady beat while engaging in complex rhythms that will test your skills. Have the chance to play an "Among us" style rhythm game. "Sing, sing a song," using our age-specific solfege, rhythm, and audiation knowledge we can learn and rehearse a song. The best part of singing is when we sing together. We will combine our voices and skills to learn a song.
Ages 14-17	Intro to Theatre	Start your theatre experience with classic drama games to break-the-ice with your peers and showcase your unique artistic talent. In theatre, we can mix words and music which is called, musical theater. Become a composer and learn about song writing using "Musical Theater Mad Libs" to create your own words to your favorite melody. Steal the show with a monologue, a speech for a single character. Write your own as a form of self-expression or learn about monologues to practice in theater. Discover what drives a single character to say and act the way they do. Act out a dramatic or comedic scene with your peers for your audience. Learn how a character interreacts with other characters in the scene, emphasizing emotions and expressions on stage. Uncover the motivation of interactions between characters and harness the skill.
